The benefits

Being able to record and store a lot of company data is a fundamental pillar of every company that is successful in the market today. Having this information available at once is just as important in order to have the right information available on a daily basis in order to make the right decisions.

The Report Designer can enable you to do just that. The Report Designer always provides you with your current data through the automatic transfer of all information from your ERP system or other connected programs. The prepared reports give you and your employees a faster overview through a standardized and therefore transparent output and communication of your company key figures.

The built-in SQL builder supports you in merging the data from your data sources. We are also looking forward to create and edit all reports for you.

The fundamentals

The Report Designer is freely configurable. All forms, reports or lists can be individually created and adjusted.

All functions, data fields and variables can be added and arranged in the report with a simple drag and drop operation.

The Report Designer is an integral part of the in-house ERP system GUSS expert and the personnel management system PZE expert. This gives you the opportunity to connect reports directly from the systems with which you are actively working and to send them by e-mail. This saves unnecessary printouts and protects the environment.

	The e-mail connection can be used directly using the stored e-mail
Email	addresses. E-mails can be sent externally to customers and suppliers and also used internally for employee information.

In addition to business information, it can be used to designate and subdivide deliveries, stored goods or confirmations of business orders through the creation and use of barcodes. A code is automatically generated for you from the stored data, which the system can recognize and assign.

Code	In addition to barcodes as 1D or 2D barcodes, QR and data matrix codes can be generated. Each code is generated from the current files and is used to uniquely identify goods or orders.

	All functions and options are directly available to you. You can
DIY	obtain the required background knowledge from us in special basic and advanced training courses.
