

What we stand for

Our goal is to advance digitization together with our customers. We aim in the sustainable improvement of all processes. We design the conversion of your processes in the digital environment together with you, so you can achieve the optimal outcome.

This is why we can offer you new developments and systems which might be already in your liking.

About IPS Expert

The RGU Expert emerged from the Weigang Group in the early 2000s. This was the logical continuation away from classic planning systems towards digitization.

Our team dedicates itself to these tasks with an open mind and is always able to optimally use the experience from previous projects for you.

Through our business development, we can offer you solutions for a wide variety of industries and requirements.

What you can count on

As an independent software developer, we are always able to respond to your special requirements in an agile manner. We can guarantee you a flexible and agile approach in all development steps as well as in the introduction of our systems as your software solution.

We also design projects specially adapted to your process and thus achieve a solution that was created for you.

All requirements placed on us are carried out with a project-oriented team to your satisfaction.
